

PUBLISHED DAILY AND TRI-WEEKLY BY EDGAR SNOWDEN;

FRIDAY EVENING......JUNE 6, 1879.

In the good old Whig times there was a campaign song, the refrain of which was:

"The nows is shocking bad about Louisiana." The news from that State has been of the same character almost ever since. The carpetbaggers during their terrible regime enriched themselves and impoverished both the State and New Ocleans; and it must be confessed that since the democrats have come into power, though they have not profited themselves to a degree (van comparable with that reached by their predecessors, the burdens of the people to nine. have been lessened but slightly, and the constitutional convention now in session is not mending matters by its measures that smack strongly of the repudiation of the State's indebteduces. Another page of the "shocking news" was commenced yesterday in the room of the Senate Committee on Elections, when the Spofferd-Kellogg contested election case was reopened and the examination of witnesses recommenced. The only hope for the Louisianians now that they have regained their autonomy is to improve their morals and manners. The men they make their leaders, like those of every other State, are fit representatives of those who follow them, and there will be no apparent improvement in the latter until there has been not only a change, but a change manifistly for the better, in the character of the former.

The result of the several recent State conventions of Greenbackers has been practically the same. A tie'cet has been nominated, and its opponents, following the example of the worst members of both the old parties, have bolted. It will thus be seen that though one of the fundamental principles of the greenbrck. ers is the proscription of party backs and office seekers, the proscribed class have such simply because they were not selected as its tain favored oliques, who have shrewdors; and cunning enough to deceive the people into the belief that they are solely occupied with public business and deeply solicitous about the general welfare, while all the time their absorbing and engrossing aspiration is self advancement and individual prosperity. The greenbackers being a new party lack the wisdom that experience and consequently in both their Maine and Ohio tended the funeral services of the late Judge tleman of middle height, or a triffe below it, envertions failed to conceal the utter selfishhas taught the democrats and the republicans, ness that is the main spring of their leaderslefe that selfishness so exposed that all cin selves of a large support that they otherwis: banging himself with a trace chain. might have received.

sess is derived from the democratic party, and been tested and proved to be a perfect safeyet when they can belp that party, as is now possible for them in Ohio, they not only refuse to do so, but say they prefer republican to democratic success, though the nominee of the wealth's Attorney, for which Jas. L. Powell democratic party is a greenbacker to all intents and purposes, and, judging from his military order, must entertain as strong an antipathy to the South as any man in the radical organization. We have always believed that the greenbickers were republicans in disguise, and their of the mountain branch, near it, that Miss Pet action so far has not tended to change that

A WOULD BE PREACHER. - Cocsiderable commotion was created last Sunday night by the appearance at the colored Baptist Church of a negro man named Mothy, a new comer, who insisted upon compying the pulpit and preaching a scimer. Being wholly without credentials for such work, his demand s were resisted by the church people, and thereupon ensued a lively time, in which the would be preacher became vulgar and profane, and made an indiscriminate assault upon these who attempted to eject him from the building. He finally gained the street, and ran for several squares, followed by a dezan or more pursuers. He was finally arrested and lodged in jail, where he was seized with a fit of insanity and nocently amused himself by singing hymns and preaching to the bare walls.
